JONIK NDOVU FARM

A hospitality-led agro-tourism destination in Segera, Laikipia, Kenya

THE OPPORTUNITY

Develop a distinctive boutique destination that brings together nature-led hospitality, farm-to-table food, agricultural experiences and community-connected programming. Hospitality is intended to be the primary commercial engine; agriculture is integrated into the guest experience, food offering and landscape.

US$2.4M Total capital requirement	12–15 units Indicative accommodation range	8 ha + up to 7 ha Existing land plus potential acquisition

INVESTMENT THESIS

• A clear, focused boutique product rather than a high-volume resort.
• A land-and-hospitality opportunity with farm experiences supporting differentiation and guest spend.
• Potential for phased delivery to manage capital exposure, subject to a professional feasibility and cost plan.
• Multiple potential investor pathways: a lead equity partner with aligned co-investors, strategic hospitality partner, or blended equity/debt structure if supportable.

CAPITAL PLAN

The US$2.4M target includes the proposed acquisition of approximately 7 additional hectares. Final allocation between land, construction, infrastructure, FF&E, professional fees, pre-opening, contingency and working capital is not yet investment-grade and must be reconciled to a quantity-surveyor cost plan and land terms.

NEXT STEP

Invite qualified investors and strategic partners to an initial discussion, followed by controlled access to verified title, technical, market, cost and financial diligence materials.

Confidential working draft. No investment offer or return assurance. All assumptions and site-specific claims are subject to verification.